

Hello and welcome to Concordia University and its Loyola Campus. That great looking quartet above is the Loyola Chaplaincy team - our secretary, Lynne Keane, and chaplains Bob Gaudet, S.J., Bob Nagy, and Anne Shore.

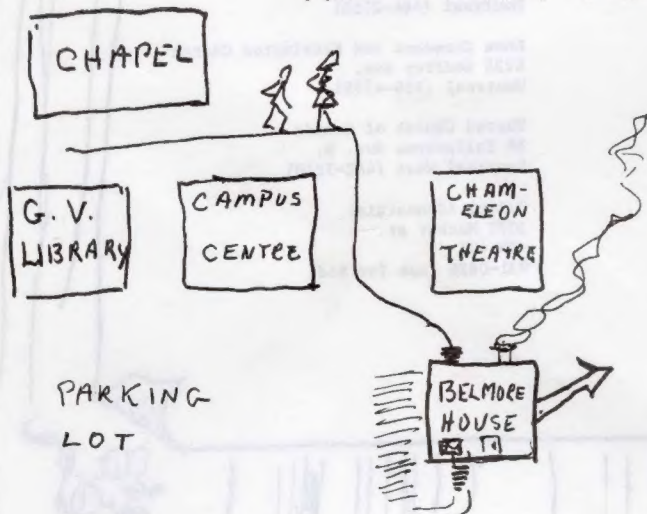

Our job is to make your university career more personal and more human. We are concerned about the development of the whole person. We believe this development must include one's spiritual growth. We also believe that spiritual growth must happen in conjunction with a person's intellectual, cultural and social development. In fact, in a sense we believe it's the spiritual that keeps the relationship between these various growth elements dynamic and true and therefore human.

While our basic individual option is Christian we are ready to facilitate the meeting of minds and hearts on actions and issues that help the student face his wider responsibilities in the human community. This broad base to the intellectual enterprise believes that the learning process is not only a collection of quantifiable data, but rather the whole spectrum of human experience. We believe that all experience is God centered and therefore the true joy of living life fully can only be experienced when the truth seeker is in touch with that center.

To facilitate this work we have a house - "Belmore House", a center where things happen, and where you are encouraged to make your own spiritual human search happen. There is lounge space, study space, place to share and prepare lunch. Come along - it's yours to use and enjoy. The following is a list of some of the regular events and planned events for the coming year. There is lots of room for participation and lots of room for you to fill in the blanks.

Montée St. Benoit

Oct. 1-3 weekend
A mountain weekend ending at a monastery in the Eastern Townships. Students from many eastern universities and the French universities of Quebec and Ontario gather to celebrate their beginning of the academic year. This year's theme is "Dare to Live in Hope". This weekend includes a hike up Mont Orford and a walk to the Benedictine monastery at St. Benoit du Lac, where we are welcomed by the monks.

Vocational Discernment Weekend. This weekend is for men and women 19 years or older to help them look at how God is calling them to serve the Church, whether as priest, sister, religious or dedicated lay person. It will be held at Villa Marguerite on November 19-21, 1982, and will be directed by Sr. Maureen Currie, RSCJ (Halifax) and Fr. Bernie Carroll, S.J. (Guelph).

Old Testament Prophets. Lecture Series. The Prophetic Books are not only historical literature, but the Prophets have left us with a heritage of moral renewal and confidence which grew fearlessly with the experience of the Divine Presence. Nine lectures (Oct. - Nov.) Presented by Fr. George Novotny, S.J. At Belmore House on Thursdays, at 8:00 p.m.
